Temporarily Disqualified From Food Stamp Program

A Seven Eleven Store in Heber City is one of eleven Utah grocery stores that have been disqualified from the food stamp program for violating federal regulations, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture official.

The Seven Eleven located at 750 South Main will not be allowed to accept food stamps for six months. However, the other Heber City Seven Eleven, at 215 North Main, was not listed among the disqualified businesses.

Some of the Utah grocery stores were disqualified for as long as three years, and one Salt Lake City store was permanently disqualified.

All of the stores were charged with repeatedly accepting food stamps for ineligible items, including laundry and cleaning supplies, and other common household products. Those disqualified for longer periods accepted food stamps for items like cigarettes, beer, or motor oil. The store that was permanently disqualified was charged with exchanging cash for food stamps.
